A Novel Divorce Sult-The Detendant Non Est. Before Judge Miller.

Charles Loges w. Bridget Loges.—This was an action for divorce, on the ground of the adultery of the defendant, who, however, did not appear to defend the suit. The complaint charges her with having committed The complaint charges her with having committed adultery at various times in a house in Greenwich street, and also with acts of prostitution at a noted house of ill-fame in Centre street, of which she was an inmate. One witness, a woman, who was called, when asked if she knew Mr. Loges, the husband of the defendant, stated that she did not know which one was meant, as there were two mes married to the defendant. Two or three witnesses were called to testify regarding the character of the houses frequented by the defendant, which was decidedly not of a fastiering nature, and the case was submitted to the jury, who returned a verdict in plaintiff's favor without leaving their seats.

The Court then discharged the jurors with thanks, and the orier adjourned this branch of the Supreme Court sine die.

COURT OF GENERAL SESSIONS Before Judge Russel,

Several hogsheads of mash were found in a state of fermentation, and the still was in perfect running order. There had been considerable annovance caused to neighbors by the noise on the premises and the smell arising from the distillery. It was further shown that Muiraney paid the water tax for the premises and that the special tax had not been paid by any one for a distillery at the place.

On the part of the defence it was claimed that a man named Galiagher had rented the ceilar of the house in question from Muiraney, who asked no questions as to what he was going to use it for. Board of Aldermen.
The Board of Aldermen met yesterday afternoon, Alderman Hathaway in the chair. After the reading and approval of the minutes of the previous meeting the report of the committee on the South Side Railroad was made the special order of business, and a general dismittee was adopted. The report, as adopted, permits the extension of the line of the South Side Railroad to North Second street. An extended and warm discussion took place on the question as to the adoption of the report of the Grading and Paving Committee, report of the Grading and Paving Committee, recommending that the petition of certain property holders on Portland, between Fulton and De Kalo avenues, for the paving of that section with Nicholson pavement be granted. It was finally granted. Another stormy debate then ensued on the report in favor of the Nicholson pavement for Fort Greene, between Lafayette avenue and Hanson place, offered by Alderman Whiting. A remonstrance was presented by Alderman O'Keete. The report was adopted. A perition was presented by Alderman Binscale from a majority of the residents of Pierrepont street, praying for the privilege of paving with Nicholson pavement that street, between Clinton and Columbia streets. An ordinance was adopted directing the removal of such trees within the city limits as may be infested with worms, and thereby constitute a nuisance. A petition was presented on behalf of a certain company, asking that the privilege be given them to run a new style of steam engine on the railroad from Fort Hamilton to the city limits and Twenty-sixth street. They claim to burn oil instead of coal in generating steam. The matter was referred. The Board, after transacting some further business of a routine character, then adjourned.

The Board set yesterday afternoon at four o'clock, Provident Little in the chair. A lengthy report was submitted by the Committee on Accounts with the Superintendents, to whom had been referred the last annual report of the Superintendents of the Poor. In this report the committee stated that they had endeavored to examine their accounts, but found that the accounts and vouchers of that Board had been kept in such a second that it would be impossible for the committee to to examine their accounts, but found that the accounts and veuchers of that Board had been kept in such a manner that it would be impossible for the committee to examine them without giving them daily attention for six months, and after that time some of them would have to be taken for granted to be correct. Attached to the report was a resolution authorizing the committee to employ a cierk to assist them in the work, and that the Superintendents of the Poor be directed to have their books, veuchers, &t., arranged in such a manner as would enable the committee to examine them. Further, that this committee be authorized to examine any persons under cash in connection with these accounts when they may think necessary, in order to accelerate the prosecution of their work. The resolution also directed the committee to prepare an act regulating the system of purchasing supplies for the institutions at Flatbush for the out-door poor, in view of having a more economical mode of relief for the poor of the county. The report, with the resolution attached, was adopted.

The following veto message was received from his Honor the Mayor:—

Mavor's Office, New York, July 1, 1867.

To the Homeaninghe Board of Councitaen:—

On the 25th day of June, 1867, I received, for approval, a resolution passed by your honorable body on the 24th of that month, and concurred in by the honorable the Board of Aldermen the same day, directing the Corporation Counsel to discontinue all further proceedings in court or elsewhere in the matter of the extension of Church street, and rescinding the resolution which provided for such extension, as approved December 31, 1864. Having noticed by the record that this reschading resolution received only the values of a majority of the members of each Board, I fell it to be my duly to ask the Corporation Counsel whether, in his optaion, that number was sufficient to make it valid, if I appreved it. I have the honor to transmit berevith a copy of the opinion of the Corporation Counsel in answer to my inquiry, by which it appears that the votes of three-fourths of the members elected to each Board are required to give validity to a resolution.

I beg leave also to call the attention of your honorable body to another point suggested by the Corporation Counsel, viz.—That the passage of the residution by both Boards on the same day, without unanimous consent, was in violation of the thirty-seventh section of the Charter of 1857.

In view of this opinion of the Corporation Counsel I feel compelled to return the resolution, with these legal objections, to your honorable body, for such further action as to your honorable body may seem proper. I have not fully examined the merits of the assessment made by the Commissioners for the proposed extension of Church street, but from the information which I now have I doem it proper to say that my views are decidedly adverse to it, and if the resolution was before me, freed from the legal objections stated, I would feel bound to give it my prompt approval.

The deceased was about nineteen years of age, and readed on a farm in the vicinity. It appears that while in the water, bathing, the unfortunate youth got beyond his depth, and was drowned before assistance could reach him.

A Cornors Markhaus Chrimnony.—Testerday afternoon Frank Ghelieen and Josephine Wokoun, a young couple residing in the village of Morrisanis, natives of Bohmes, a pertion of the Austrian Empire, were married at the residence of the Lotheran Minister, Rev. Mr. Schultz, Woodstock, after the manner peculiar to their native land, which is of a singularly curious, though interesting character. According to the time-honored custom, the bridal party, dressed in the genuine costome of the peanantry—a rare combination of the Italian brigand and the Milesian peasant—waring masks, proceeded from the residence of the bride on horseback to the clergyman's, where the nuptial knot was soon tied; after which the entire party returned to the house, where the remainder of the day and evening was devoted to the wildest kind of enjoyment. The odd-looking procession was viewed by a large number of persons with, seemingly, much interest.
